"Listen, our boys have gone to lay down their lives. They may return, and we pray that they do, but they have laid their lives on the altar of their country. Shall we not by our aid make their time at the front as profitable as possible? Amid the roar of cannon, the whistle of bullets, or in the deadly bayonet charge, we can help them to be their best. Then their spirits shall soar above the thought of the possible loss of their bodies and in faith they shall call upon Him; and in their prayers shall lay hold upon the altar of God."

In such fervent eloquence, Rev. J. C. Persinger concluded another one of his great war speeches, when yesterday afternoon at the Masonic theatre he spoke in behalf of the effort that is now on foot to raise $7,000 for religious work among our more than a million soldiers.

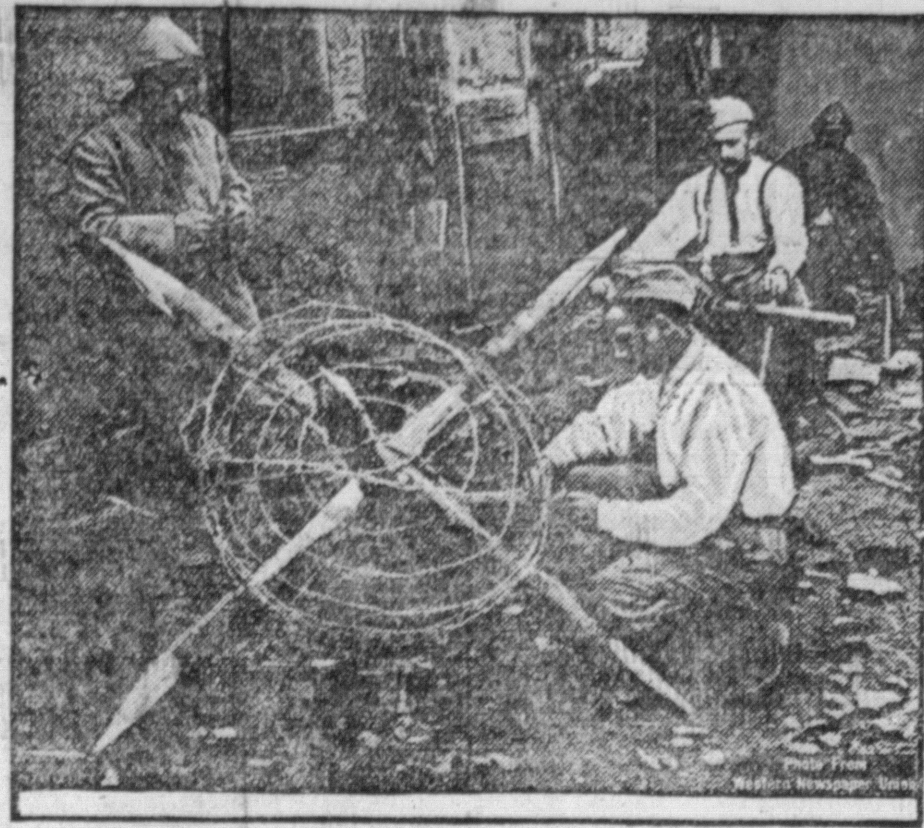

"The more a man thinks of God the more of a man he is. That nation that is now trying to put us under her feet has scorned this great truth. Germany has left God and religion out of her calculations. The less a man or nation believes in God the less they are in every respect."

This further sentiment of Rev. Persinger, dove-tailed in with the opening remarks of the chairman, Rev. L. F. Goodwin, who in announcing the opening hymn, said that America's cause, in his opinion, was upheld of God; that God could be glorified in a democracy, but never through the corrupt autocracy now making its desperate bid for world power. Dr. Goodwin was very effective in his earnest, dignified and clear-cut address which impressed the great fact that Germany is seeking to substitute her damnable authority in place of the present comradeship of Americans of all races. Mr. Goodwin spoke in high praise of the noble response that the army and navy has made to the government; of the peoples' response to the work and needs of the Red Cross, and of the unprecedented response that the people made to the Liberty Loan calls. He predicted that the response to the call for the religious, social, educational and physical comfort of the soldiers would be amply met, and that Morgan county would do her whole duty. The speaker aroused some merriment when, in illustrating America's great wealth, he said that if all our mules were made into one big mule he could "kick the sun spots off of the sun;" that if our cattle were made into one big cow, "she could drink from the Gulf of Mexico, while with her tail she could brush the icebergs off the North Pole; and as for hogs, "all our hogs made into one could dig as big a place as the Panama canal with three roots."

Major Bassett Speaks.
Seated on the platform with the two principal speakers, were Rev. A. H. Manly and Maj. Chas. Bassett. The latter made a short, practical address. He said that he was ready to "go over the top" to the full limit; not for himself, as he had passed the four-score mile post, and whether Germany won or lost she could not hurt him much, but that it was posterity, the welfare of his children and those of others that was filling his mind, and what a sad fate awaited them if the kings won against the people. The speaker said people must turn loose

Albany Silk Mill Now In Operation

The Albany Silk Mill, the only one of its kind in the South, is now in operation. It began business at 1 o'clock today when the winding department got into action, and will run night and day as soon as the necessary operatives can be obtained and trained.

The mill, secured through the Albany Board of Commerce, is owned by E. C. Rolker, of New York, and is housed in a handsome brick structure on Second street, built especially for the purpose by local capital. It is in charge of Ernest Wright as superintendent, under whose direction the machinery has all been installed with the exception of one carload yet to arrive.

Mr. Rolker, who is now in the East, will return here the latter part of this week with a number of girls who will act as instructors. As soon as the silk can be prepared, the sixty looms will be put into day operation. Later, on, after a sufficient number of operatives are trained, the mill will also run at night.

Mr. Rolker upon his arrival here will announce the date of the formal opening when the public will be invited to call and inspect the plant and the young women employees will act as hostesses at a big reception.

Von Tirpitz in Address Takes Stand for Indemnities and Loot.

(International News Service.)
Zurich, Nov. 12.—Admiral Von Tirpitz, one of the founders of the new national party in Germany, in a speech at Munich, declared that Germany must retain part of Belgium's coast for submarine bases and also Antwerp, according to advices received here from Munich today. Peace without economical indemnities for Germany would be defeat for the central powers, Von Tirpitz was quoted as saying. In conclusion the German junker added that Austria must secure control of the mouth of the Danube and retain Trieste, but these questions, he said, affected Germany as much as Austria.

BACKED BY TROOPS PREMIER RETURNS AND OUSTS LENINE

London Reports Indicate That Radicals Have Been Deterred by Loyalists

ITALIAN FORCES BEGINNING TO FIGHT

Throw Back Austro-German Advance Guard,
According to Rome Report. Removing Art Treasures

(International News Service.)
London, Nov. 12.—Loyal Russian troops under Premier Kerensky have reached Petrograd and are waging a victorious fight for possession of the city, according to reports received here. Kerensky is again "the man of the hour" in Russia, and indications today were that he would once more fill the role of the savior of the world's newest republic. It is believed certain that Gen. Korniloff has aligned himself on the side of Kerensky. Gen. Kaledines, a famous Cossack leader, has proclaimed himself dictator of Moscow where the Bolsheviks were defeated by the provisional government forces.

Premier Kerensky and his fellow officers have determined upon a drastic policy towards the leaders of the Maximillist coup and it was declared that Lenine, the self-proclaimed premier, would be arrested as a traitor if captured.

The first information of the successful counter stroke against the Bolsheviks by forces loyal to Kerensky came after the loyal troops secured possession of the Russian wireless plant by which they were able to communicate with London.

(International News Service.)
London, Nov. 12.—The inter-allied military commission which is directing the campaign for the salvation of Italy is today delivering the first blow against the invading Austro-German armies. Along the lower Piave river and upon the Asiago plateau, Italian troops and their allies have followed a bombardment of the Teutonic positions with sharp thrusts and at some points the advance guards of the invaders were thrown back, said advices from Rome today.

(International News Service.)
London, Nov. 12.—Artillery duelling of varying intensity was all that was reported from the British front by the war office today. A wireless dispatch from Petrograd this morning stated that the war office had nothing to report.

(International News Service.)
Copenhagen, Nov. 12.—Moderate socialists and representatives of the centrist group have formed a coalition in Petrograd with the view to forming an anti-Bolshevik cabinet, according to press dispatches received here today.

(International News Service.)
Zurich, Nov. 12.—Rate and priceless art works are being removed from Venice by the Italians, it was stated in a dispatch from Milan. A portion of the civilian population of Venice has left the city, the dispatch added.

(International News Service.)
Berlin, Nov. 12.—Austro-German forces that captured Belluno, Italy, have advanced 15 miles down the Piave valley, capturing 10,000 additional Italian prisoners, the war office reported today. German troops are now in front of the important Italian town of Seltro.

(International News Service.)
Paris, Nov. 12.—There is a lull in infantry fighting on the French front. The only thing reported by the war office today was artillery fighting on the Verdun front.

WASHINGTON IS LOOKING FOR KERENSKY VICTORY.

(International News Service.)
Washington, Nov. 12.—Official Washington expects a fierce struggle for supremacy in Russia. Despite the fact that there is no confirmation at the state department today of the reported march on Petrograd led by Kerensky with 200,000 soldiers, officials here are convinced that a great clash is imminent. This view is based on a round-about report which reached the state department today declaring that Kerensky had reached the Russian army headquarters. Officials here feel certain that the entire force of the army will turn against the Maximillists.

Washington is Gay Callahan Charges

(International News Service.)
Chicago, Nov. 12.—Washington, D. C., in war times a center of wild extravagance and recklessness was the picture painted here today by C. H. Callahan, chairman of the war activities of the Knights of Columbus. "I have never seen the capital so plunged in gaiety. It gives one the shivers," he said.

Deformed Baby is Being Drugged to Death at Chicago

(International News Service.)
Chicago, Nov. 12.—Medical circles are stirred today as they were two years ago by the Baby Boller case, by the announcement that a child said to be hopelessly deformed is being slowly drugged to death by the advice and treatment of Dr. Harry Haiselen. The child is Paul Rodizima, and it is daily being given medicine by its parents that they know will cause its death within two months.

Alien-Owned Food Found at Boston

(International News Service.)
Boston, Nov. 12.—Merchandise and foodstuffs owned by or held in the interest of alien enemies to the value of from three to five million dollars, has been discovered in Boston by secret service agents. The unearthing of this hoarded merchandise has been reported to the treasury department.

KERENSKY'S RETURN TO RUSSIAN CAPITAL.

All is not yet lost in Russia. Driven from Petrograd by the successful revolt of disloyal forces, Premier Kerensky has secured the support of the faithful Cossack regiments and has returned to the capital to battle again for the freedom of his people who are about to be sold into slavery by seditious agitators and unprincipled leaders. Press dispatches, meagre though they are, carry the cheerful intelligence that Kerensky and his anarchistic followers have been defeated.

Backed by General Korniloff, whose revolt is thought to have been due to his exasperation at the leniency shown the radicals, it is quite possible that the return of the premier will mean the inauguration of a new policy. From now on it may be expected that the pro-German element which has sought to strangle the new republic will be dealt with without mercy. There will be no more vacillating, no more debating, no more temporizing. As "the man of the hour," Kerensky can be depended on to correct his big mistake of the past—failure to establish a strong centralized government with only one man at the head of it. If this is done, if there is real iron in the make-up of the premier, then the revolution that gave the pacifists temporary control will prove to be a blessing.

This and That at Austinville

BY L. N. BROCK

Fire broke out in the roof of the residence of R. G. Williams, one block north of Bussey's drug store, on Friday, about 9 a. m. The building was used as a residence and store combined. The fire quickly spread to the home of Rev. L. N. Brock, who lived next door. The house occupied by him was also owned by Mr. Williams. A telephone message to the L. & N. shops quickly brought a large number of men to the scene, who, by heroic work, stopped a further spread of the fire.

We are all very grateful to the men for their hard work, but the good women deserve special praise, for before any appreciable number of men had arrived a great number of near-by women were on the ground and worked with might, and main removing furniture from adjacent houses. The public school also turned out and the teachers and boys worked with a will.

Funeral services over the remains of Mr. Frank Warrick were conducted Sunday evening at the home of George Warrick in West Albany. The train bringing Monroe Warrick from Houston, Texas, to the funeral of his father was so delayed that the services were not held until 6:30 p. m., conducted by Pastor L. N. Brock, of whose church Mr. Warrick had been a deacon, much beloved, for a number of years. Interment took place this morning in City cemetery.

The Baptist church has decided to put a new roof on their building, and have chosen Thanksgiving Day as the time and have called for volunteers for the work. There have been a number in and out of the church.

Our Boys a Puzzle To French Hosts

By H. W. ROSS,
(A Californian with the American Forces in France.)
(Written for the International News Service.)

"My dear ———:
"I have before me, as a precaution, a two-page digest of a new eight-page order, outlining the censorship restrictions. It is an impressive document. Uncle Sam, though a novice in the game of doing something without letting the world know about it, has gone his belligerent associates one better than they ever thought of. This, I suppose, because of the comparative ease with which a spy otherwise could operate in the American army.

"The new order is the most drastic ever adopted by any nation and a blow to the Sammie ambitions to tell 'em about it. It embodies an ocean of 'don'ts' and not a single 'do,' and one is wont to wonder, after a first perusal, what the deuce he can write about. I was puzzled myself until I got the knack of sticking to generalities. A good way to fill up white paper, also, is to devote three paragraphs to telling the folks that you can't tell them anything, and why.

"Sorted, and alphabetically arranged, these 'don'ts' run from 'A to Z.' After reading down through 'H' and 'I,' the newcomer finally decides to sit down and write, merely, 'I am well.' All references or opinions to present or future whereabouts, work or operations is prohibited. The mention of troops in connection with any particular place is forbidden. And this is carried even to military correspondence. I am told, the addresses reading merely Regiment So and So, A. E. F., three initials which will be used a lot in the next few months—or years. Postcards, both of the picture variety and those with messages on them, are tabooed. Other subjects I can't discuss are: Information concerning casualties, unless they've been officially announced; the effect of hostile fire, all information about aircraft and the condition, moral or physical, of our own or allied troops. And, what is more, no criticism of any sort will be allowed of our own officers or those of the allies. So I can't, for instance, tell you what I think of my corporal. As a matter of fact, however, I haven't got one. I'm the clerk of my company and spend most of my day fighting the Germans with a typewriter—no casualties yet. I felt no conscientious pang about being armed with so innocent a weapon as a typewriter, however.

"There are many things besides guns which figure in this war. Over here the slide rule, the surveyor's transit, the cross-cut saw, the electrician's pliers, are a few that are as honorable as the Krag, and the baker and the cook, the dentist and the barber, the store clerk in the quartermaster's, and the cobbler, the woodsman and the bridge builder, the track layer and the road builder, all are useful—and essential—in their place. And their work is regarded as being as honorable as that of the man who goes down into the first line trenches. Or rather will go down.

"There is a lot of speculation as to when Uncle Sam will start things. Every soldier has an ear open for the latest rumor—and there is one every few minutes—and a deep curiosity as to the immediate future of his troop, but there is no answer to the question, 'When do we go?' And the constant repetition of this question has had but one result, Special Order, prohibiting the discussion of probabilities as to when we will take over a stretch of line. It is a punishable offense for an officer to debate with his men, for example, the question. Of one thing only am I certain—that the United States will not start until everything is ready. I used to think that all an army had to do was march up to the firing line and go to it, but this trip has produced realization of the elaborate preparation necessary before we even begin to fight. There must be hospitals behind the lines, manned by nurses and doctors and attendants, railroads to convey troops and food, automobiles, bakeries, bath houses, laundries and a hundred other things, and all these must be in readiness before the actual fighting begins. There must be pretty efficient organization perfected merely as a preliminary. And that is why there is a dignity to the man with the shovel, the axe and other tools I could enumerate. He already is at work while the fighter is waiting until the stage is set.

"The liquid refreshment question here is an interesting one. Of course, there is not even the hint of any liquor prohibition on the part of the French government. The French viewpoint would not even admit of a conception of such a thing. The Frenchman fights on wine. I ordered water in a restaurant here one night and created great excitement.

"American drink water?" the waiter asked in amazement.

"The American soldier arrives in France ripe for a 'time.' He has travelled in seclusion as near absolute as possible for from three to five weeks, and his first relaxation is usually rather violent. The policy followed, judging from my observation, is to give incoming soldiers as much liberty as reasonably possible with few rules of restraint. Then, as privileges are abused, restrictions are made. There is one town near here, for instance, in which members of this regiment are forbidden to drink. The government of troops thereby evolves into a sort of local option proposition—with the option in the hands of the commanding officer. Regiments are something like individuals. They have a character of their own—and a reputation. And the intimation is that rules and orders will be applied, locally, as needed for special cases. The system, I believe, will work admirably. If a regiment should go too strong on the liquor I suppose its drinking privilege could be taken away. Anyhow, the scheme has the effect of putting the sober heads constantly on guard among their comrades, less responsible, and keeping the situation near equilibrium.

"The policing, insofar as Americans are concerned, is in the hands of Americans. The United States soldier is answerable, at present, only to his commander. This was illustrated the other day, when an officer went down to the police station to see if he could get the police of a nearby French city to apprehend a member of his company who had wine too well and forgot to return for two or three days. He finally got the plan through the head of the El Captain de Police.

"What?" exclaimed that official (through an interpreter). 'We arrest no one that fights for France!'

"Hence, Uncle Sam is doing his own policing. The marines are doing it here. There has been no trouble of any consequence, though. Once in a while the genuine and wholesome good-will of the French gives way to exasperation at the strange demands of the American. The slight friction there has been is all due to differences of language and custom. This gives rise to many embarrassing situations. One I may cite:

"At a small town near where I was stationed a few days ago we were wont to gather in front of the emporiums for an evening for social purposes. A French soldier train bound for the front goes through every evening. Invariably the Americans greeted the Frenchmen with hearty cheers and whistling. The French at first appeared to be enthusiastic enough. That is, when the cheering began. Then they seemed to get fuddled and not infrequently they were suspected of calling us names. Come to find out to whistle at a person is to insult him in this country, and the French thought we were hooting them. Result—an order against whistling. I remembered that in evening strolls when I had been absent-mindedly whistling, persons had looked at me rather strangely with a kind of 'Are you doing that to me?' look on their face.

"Then, too, we landed here with a splash. The Australian and the Canadian make as much money as we do, but they don't know how to spend it. The American is the best spender on earth; I don't mean merely in the amount that he spends, but in the obviousness with which he distributes it. He seldom haggles, and it may be his last five-franc piece that he gives to the cabman for a two-franc ride, but he doesn't holler. He stopped in the best hotels and ate at the best restaurants.

"I dined in the 'swellest' restaurant in the aforesaid nearby city one night. Present were two French generals, half a dozen lesser officers, a couple of English captains and six buck privates of the U. S. A. (with their coats off and hanging on a hook). This is a common sight. The advance reputation of the Americans and the way in which they have lived up to it caught the eye of French femininity—the abundance of which cannot be over-estimated—and, I suspect, that naturally enough there was just a tinge of jealousy on the part of the Frenchman home from the trenches. Moreover, the American hasn't done anything yet—proven his steel, as it were. But that doesn't amount to much.

"The world of skirt is certainly ours, however. The Americans hadn't been here two months until society in Paris had adopted the American campaign hat for this season and the vogue has spread all over the country. A hat is worth a home any day. They sell at the quartermaster's for $1.04 and are as good as a widely advertised $5 brand in the States. But there have been so many 'lost' hats to be replaced that the A. M. has shut down here. A young lady with an American chapeau is the envy or the city.

"The wiles and the black hair and the smile and the eyes of the maiden are not luring in vain, however. A lot of the fellows will get married over here undoubtedly. That is, maybe. Nobody knows whether it will be permitted or not. I heard of one young fellow in another company, Robert J. Duncan, of Denver, who announced his engagement, proud of the distinction of its being the first on this side. He was advised to wait until he got permission from the colonel. He hasn't received the permission yet and I wouldn't be surprised if it has gone up to General Pershing for settlement."

What Is It?

Athens College Notes

The college girls gave a tea last Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Young, secretary of the National War Council of the Y. W. C. A. In the evening the girls gathered in the assembly hall to hear Miss Young speak on the great war relief work being done by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

Miss Young made a powerful appeal for help in this great cause. Her talk was stirring and forceful and the girls responded loyally to her appeal for financial aid.

Food conservation pledges have been signed by the entire student body.

Sunday evening at the Y. W. C. A. service, a letter was read from Miss Mabel Whitehead, a former teacher in Athens College, who is now a missionary in Japan. The letter was of unusual interest because of the personal way in which she spoke of the life and conditions of the people among whom she works.

Dr. and Mrs. Glasgow returned from conference Monday.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Glasgow gave a tea in honor of Mrs. W. G. Echols.

Our Job Department is equipped to take care of anything you may need in this line. Let us have your order.

Capt. Hans Berg is Again in Prison

(International News Service.)
Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 12.—Capt. Hans Berg, commander of the prize ship Appam, is again behind the barbed wire prison stockade at Ft. McPreston, Ga., after having been at liberty since Oct. 10. Berg and Lieut. Alfred Loescher, who escaped at the same time with eight other prisoners, were returned early today from Laredo, Texas, where they were arrested while trying to cross to Mexico.

Uncle Sam Will Use Captured Food

(International News Service.)
Washington, Nov. 12.—Seizure of enormous quantities of German-owned supplies of every sort, valued into the millions, by the secret service yesterday in New York, gave a fresh glimpse today into the manner which the trading-with-the-enemy law will aid the United States. While officials were awaiting a complete report detailing just what supplies have been taken, it was explained that all would be disposed of without delay. The foodstuff will go to Herbert C. Hoover direct. He will, if early plans are followed out, sell them at once to relieve strains on the food market and to bring prices down as much as possible. All other supplies will be turned over to Representative A. Mitchell Palmer, receiver of enemy property, and they will be sold by him probably at auction. The proceeds will be invested by Mr. Palmer subject to further action by congress.

REPORTERS ARE SCARCE SINCE THE WAR BEGAN.

(International News Service.)
Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 12.—The humble newspaper reporter is coming into his own. Once a live chap, ready to work hard, could be had in almost any town at $10 a week. But he has disappeared. Whither, no one knows. He will probably be most frequently found in the army—not as a wonderful war correspondent, but patiently carrying a gun, intent upon "getting the Kaiser." The scarcity of reporters emphasizes the urgent demand for man power by the army and the industries of the nation, according to editors, many of whom contend that a man will quit almost any other occupation before he will give up newspaper work.

UNUSUAL VALUES IN TABLE LINENS

As is well known the matter of real Table Linen is almost a thing of the past. It can scarcely be had at any price. We are well supplied with a good collection of designs in real linens that we will put on sale for the remainder of the week at per yard. These are full 72 inches wide, heavy quality and leather-like in weight. This is scarcely more than half prices for them on today's market. Not more than two cloths to the person. These lines are one thing you will have just cause to be thankful for. Napkins of equal quality at proportionate prices. At these prices these linens are a genuine snap and ought to make you step quick.

AMUSEMENTS

"VISIT TO MAXIM'S" AT STRAND IS DRAWING LARGE CROWDS.

(The Mobile Tribune.)
Inclement weather did not greatly affect the size of the audience attending the Strand theatre last night, the second night's performance of Jewel's Golden Jubilee Girls in "A Visit to Maxim's." It was a very pleased audience that greeted the company and immensely enjoyed the play. The same play will be presented today, matinee and night, with a complete change of program tomorrow.

Miss Isabella Morton in classic dances was pleasing. Conrad Hipp, as the eccentric Dutchman, was a pronounced hit. He has a dialect and manner that is in line with the clean Dutch character instead of the one of the rough sort. The Moira Twins, native Hawaiian dancers, proved a riot with the audience, while Mack and Bennett, "The Maid and the Toothpick," were clever, the male end of the team stopping the show. He is a living skeleton.

As a female impersonator Leslie Golden is exceptionally clever. He carried through his impersonation without penetration to the finale, when he made known his sex by removing the long golden tresses. He is the cleverest of impersonators. The Jubilee Trio is good, while West and Fields shared in the honors of the evening.

The play is perfectly staged, the acting clever and the entertainment features offered far above the average. "A Visit to Maxim's" will be repeated today, matinee and night, the bill changing Thursday.

This attraction will play at the Masonic theatre all week, with daily change of program.

CHARMING ETHEL CLAYTON AT THE DELITE AND STAR TODAY

The Delite and Star theatres take pleasure in announcing the appearance today of Miss Ethel Clayton in "The Woman Beneath," the new World-Picture Brady-Made. This drama is one of the most delightful that has ever been filmed and Miss Clayton's role is lovable and entrancing. In fact the role of Betty Fairchild in this picture gives Miss Clayton one of the very best opportunities of her career.

"The Woman Beneath" is a thoroughly enjoyable production, an exceptional production from all angles. See it.

Will License Bread On December Tenth

Price of Pound Loaves May Be Lowered to Seven or Eight Cents.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Definite steps to standardize bread and lower its price were taken today when President Wilson issued a proclamation placing all bakeries under government license December 10 and subjecting them to food administration rules prescribing ingredients and weights of loaves.

Prices will not be fixed, but with the standardization it is expected that natural competition and simplification of distribution will force down prices for pound loaves to 7 or 8 cents.

Fancy breads will be eliminated and the multitudes of sizes now produced will be reduced to conform with standard ingredients. The weights will be one pound, one and a half, two and four pounds. The loaves will have a crease in the middle to permit their sale in halves. In baking only three pounds of sugar will be allowed for a barrel of flour instead of the present average of six pounds, and two pounds of vegetable oil shortening must be used instead of four pounds of lard or oil. The food administration expects to save 100,000,000 pounds of sugar and the same amount of lard in this way. Bakers may use only skimmed milk for bread and rolls will be permitted only if made in standard sizes and of regulation bread dough.

DAVID LIPSCOMB DIES AT NASHVILLE

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 12.—Silencing an evangelist's voice familiar in Tennessee a century ago and stilling an editor's pen that made a record of not one failure to contribute weekly to the press for a period of forty-five years, death came at 11 o'clock last night to David Lipscomb, founder of the Nashville Bible school, teacher, preacher and author, editor of the Gospel Advocate for a period of 51 years, and perhaps the most widely known representative of the Church of Christ of his day. The end came at his home on the Nashville Bible school campus, from general infirmity and old age.

Elder Lipscomb, who was 86 years of age, is survived by his wife, who was Miss Margaret Zeline of Maury county, and to whom he was married July 23, 1862. Their only child died in infancy. One half-brother, John Lipscomb, of Franklin county, and two half-sisters, Mrs. L. J. Woods, of Franklin county, and Mrs. Ellen Gardner, of Winchester, also survive him. His only full brother was William Lipscomb, well-known Christian church evangelist, who died in 1908. Granville Lipscomb, another prominent minister of the same church, who died in 1909, was a half-brother. The deceased was a half brother also to Horace G. Lipscomb of the Lipscomb Hardware Company, who died a few years ago.

He was an uncle of A. B. Lipscomb, pastor of the Russell Street Church of Christ, and managing editor of the Gospel Advocate, and of Horace S. Lipscomb, assistant principal of the Nashville high school.

Campaign For "Y" War Fund Starts

their money for the good of the soldiers and that he had no doubt they would make the present campaign a success if intelligently approached.

Secretary Thompson's Message.
Dr. H. R. Thompson, confined to his bed, was unable to attend yesterday's meeting, but says he will be at the next meeting with or without permission of the doctor. He said Morgan county should be "covered as the dew with campaign literature," and that speakers should go into every beat and precinct of the county. As secretary of the committee for the county, Dr. Thompson dictated the following statement of campaign plans: "In a town, like Albany, or Decatur, three teams are to be organized—Army, Navy and Aviation teams. The last named is to go to the moneyed men and solicit their larger donations. The Army and Navy divisions should be equal in the number of men in each, but no one team is to have over six men on it, its general and five others. In Albany, say, we ought to have about 24 men, two teams of navy men and two of army men, not counting those on the aviation team, and these should approach every man and woman in their territory for a donation to the religious work in the army. The fact that the Y. M. C. A. is to be used to do this work is only incidental. It is the medium, the common meeting ground for all."

Small Crowds Present.
It became generally known that the selected speakers, Senator Frank S. White, Judges Locke and Fort, of Birmingham, had missed their train yesterday, and as a consequence the Hartselle meeting was called off altogether, though the Hartselle committee is aggressive and reports that they are going right on with the campaign.

Rev. H. L. Stevenson made a most acceptable address at the First Methodist church of Decatur, and among other things, impressed that through the Y. M. C. A. as through no other medium, the soldiers could be reached, especially those taken prisoner, as the Germans had officially given consent for Y. M. C. A. workers to visit all German prison camps where Americans are confined.

For ages it has been the custom to mark the burial place of the sacred dead. We have the experience and the ability to execute from the simplest to the most elaborate monumental work in all grades of stone, marble and granite.
